Dr John Wren-Lewis has suggested that we send you a copy of his paper about his near-death experience, which induced a radical change in consciousness ("God consciousness", "enlightenment" or peak experience). John is presently in New Zealand, and is returning to NSW late this year. He welcomes comment on his paper, either privately (the AIPR will readdress letters), or as a letter to the AIPR Bulletin. Should you wish to review John's article for another publication, we would be grateful if you could please mention that copies are available from the AIPR for $3 (postage included), or $4 Aust (overseas airmail).

John is an honorary committee member of the AIPR. The AIPR (incorporation in progress) is a not-for-profit scientific society, with a high proportion of professional members, that promotes scientific study of psychic and other little understood phenomena. We would welcome your support as a Bulletin subscriber (3 per year; $16 Australian airmail for 4 issues).
