

Routledge Lecture in Philosophy: Arguing about torture

More than 20 years ago, international law declared torture a crime that can never be justified and yet governments continue to do it. Professor David Luban will examine the ethical issues surrounding its use. Lecture sponsored by Routledge.

Friday 21 October
5:30PM - 6:30PM

LB3, Sidgwick Site